Interested In Swimming Pool

Renewing her subscription to the Advocate, Mrs. A. M. Pettman, of Tiltsonburg, Ont., writes: "I enjoy getting the Advocate so much and read it very thoroughly each time it arrives. I was especially interested in the new Memorial Swimming Pool and feel that Vulcan can justly be proud of such a useful and lasting memorial to the boys we all knew since they were lads and who failed to return to Vulcan but yet live on in our memories."

Mrs. Pettman says that she is keeping well and busy, and extends best wishes to all her Vulcan friends.

HEADS RAIDS

Lieut. A. Piche new head of the Montreal morality squad, has started to clean up gambling in Montreal by a series of raids.

Fire Destroys Service Station

Fire completely gutted the frame building occupied by the White Rose Service Station on Monday morning of this week. Believed to have started from an explosion of gas vapor, ignited by a welding torch then in use, the fire spread rapidly. The alarm was turned in at 10.30 a.m. and the fire engines made a quick run to the blaze. Although the flames were quickly brought under control and the fire was out by 10.45, little remained but the shell of the building, so fierce was the blaze.

The efficient action of the fire brigade prevented the flames from spreading to the oil and gasoline warehouse, which is located only about fifteen feet from the service station. Two hoses were quickly brought into play and damage was confined entirely to the service station building.

Lessee of the station is Peter Newfeldt, and his stock and equipment is almost a complete loss. It is understood that no insurance was carried by Mr. Newfeldt.

New Electrical Shop Now Open

Situated on the Main Street, in a new cinder brick and stucco building 24x56 feet, the Totem Radio Electric will handle a complete line of Westinghouse radios and electrical appliances. Mr. Marsden will specialize in farm radio service, and carries a complete stock of tubes and batteries.

Mr. Marsden operated an electrical shop at Sylvan Lake for one year before coming to Vulcan, and previous to that had a service station and radio-electric shop at Milo for 18 years. He is well known throughout the district and, with Mrs. Marsden, has now taken up residence in Vulcan.

Inch of Rain This Week Brightens District Crop Picture

Late Sown and Reseeded Crops Will Be Greatly Helped; Harvest Under Way Soon

Following a day of high winds and dust Vulcan and district received a very timely and welcome rain during Tuesday night of this week. A prolonged spell of hot, dry weather was causing rapid deterioration of the crops and the badly needed moisture will do a tremendous amount of good.

The precipitation gauge kept by Mr. Errett King showed that .93 of an inch of rain fell in town, and reports received from farmers in different parts of the district indicate that the whole district received close to an inch of moisture. Early sown crops had been ripening very quickly and the rain will help fill these out. Particularly benefitted are the late-sown and reseeded fields, which were badly in need of moisture. A good yield is now expected from most crops throughout the district.

Harvest operations are expected to be general in this district in another ten days or so. Swathing of fall wheat is pretty well completed and combining of early spring wheat will likely be under way next week.

Combine repairs are in very short supply and there is a good demand for all types of harvesting equipment.

Ontario Wedding Of Interest Here

HAWKINS—CAMPBELL

A wedding of interest to residents of Vulcan and district took place at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Swinton Park, Ontario, on July 26th, when Ethel M. Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Campbell, of Proton Station, Ontario, became the bride of Mr. Douglas E. Hawkins, of Miami, Florida, son of Sgt.-Major and Mrs. E. Hawkins, of Nassau, The Bahamas.

Dr. A. V. Brown officiated and the church was beautifully decorated with Madonna lilies, delphinium and asparagus fern. The wedding music was played by Mrs. A. D. McAllister.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of white crepe and lace with white satin calla lily trim and small trim, made by Mrs. H. C. Douglass, of Vulcan, Alta. She wore a full length veil of silk net and her sweetheart head-dress was caught with orange blossoms. Her cascade bouquet was of Joanna Hill rose and bouvardia.

Bridesmaids were Miss Donna Young, of Bath, Ontario, and Miss Irene Morris, of Kincardine, Ontario. Their dresses were of pale peach organdy and Nile green organdy, styled alike, with plicated frill trim and an inset of frills in the skirts, and their head-dresses were velvet bands caught with rosebuds. They carried colonial nosegays. Mr. Gordon McNaulty attended the groom and Mr. Jack Fell and Mr. Frank Meredith were the ushers.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The guests were received by Mrs. Campbell, who wore a gown of gold crepe, with a corsage of Talisman roses. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Lebeau and Mrs. Gil Williams and Myrna.

For going away, the bride wore a greyed blue suit and hat with dark brown alligator accessories. Later in August, the young couple will make a wedding trip to Alberta, before taking up residence in the United States.

Shields of Toronto. The wedding will take place at Southminster United Church, Lethbridge, on August 31.

There will now be the same train service every day, including Sundays. The southbound train leaves Vulcan at 10.50 a.m. and the northbound train leaves at 8.40 p.m.

Anything May Happen

This is the kind of year when "anything may happen." Such an observation doesn't sound especially profound or interesting if people are talking about the state of the human world. But if they are speaking of weather and the goings on of the elements, that's different. You can catch attention anytime by looking deep and brooding and remarking portentously: "This is the kind of year when anything may happen." It can give tingles of speculation and apprehension without calling for any preventive steps.

It won't be what we will do to ourselves, but what may be done to us. Our minds dart ahead to all sorts of catastrophes which won't be our fault, or maybe all sorts of joyous fulfillment for which we can take little credit. And the beauty of it all is that you don't need age nor experience to make weather prophecies. All you need is an air of authority and a broody look. Then you can influence people, get them thinking. It helps of course if you can quote an Indian legend or have bits of lore to introduce. But standing alone and unsupported you can command a hearing any time by conjectures on weather and crops, particularly in such a year as this when so much is at stake.

That is, of course, if you are amongst people interested in the doings of nature. Certain sections of society have no such interest. They consider "Nice day" or "Bad day" covers the whole subject. They have no particular wonderment, nor awe of nature, nor even curiosity about what may happen next.

But to the rest of us the comment "Nice day" is just an opener. It is the signal to seek a good sitting down place and go into the matter thoroughly. Is it a nicer day than yesterday? Is it likely to continue? Is the wind in the right corner? What's the stage of the moon? Would a good shower help? You can go on and on amiably, easily, with no strain, no irritations—just sitting in God's sunshine, talking about sunshine. It is very satisfying.

How much happier a theme—at its very worst how very much happier—than any mention of the human race. There is something sincere, real, triumphant and everlasting about nature, and even something restful in a world that man has made otherwise unendurably unrestful. When the last two men on this earth have destroyed each other, the grass will still be growing, the heavens will be letting loose benediction or fury. It will be as true then as it is today that where nature is involved anything may happen.

Too Much Waste

FOR a long time there has been an uneasy feeling that the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation organization has not functioned with efficiency. At first the charge was that they had branched out so lavishly in uniforms and suitable headquarters that the funds were depleted rapidly before they even got round to dispensing the relief for which they came into being. There have been further charges that in some countries U.N.R.R.A., having life-giving supplies at its disposal, has used its power politically and for purposes of intimidation. Unquestionably there would be great temptation to make use of the authority vested in such an organization unless administrators were of high integrity.

More recent news of an unfavorable nature centres round Yugoslavia where it is said that supplies have been used to force support of Communist principles. And in China it is reported that great quantities of goods have found their way to black markets to enrich officials.

All the goods and money dispensed by U.N.R.R.A. comes from the people of contributing nations. It comes from Canada through the taxes which the individual has to pay, and through produce which is rationed to the people of Canada. There is no protest against tax or rationing if the food, clothing and other supplies actually reach the neediest people. But it certainly gives no satisfaction to feel that officials are using our contributions to make wealth for themselves or for the exercise of power in famine-stricken countries.

There is a tendency to hush criticism of U.N.R.R.A. and to say what does it matter, if only a fraction of what we send actually reaches the starving. But that supine unquestioning benevolence leads only to greater corruption, and our own further exploitation for no good purpose in things that we need ourselves. The greater an organization or an individual the greater the responsibility, and the more severe should be the punishment if anyone fails in his duties.

All nations that are contributing to U.N.R.R.A. should demand the strictest fairness and efficiency. Any evidence of dishonesty should be most sternly dealt with and publicized without mercy. The service was planned with the highest motives and subscribed to by the people of contributing nations. But nothing is more calculated to chill the warm impulses toward fellowman than the thought that necessities of life so generously given are not being put to maximum use for those who need them most.

In the interests of the good that U.N.R.R.A. can do; in the interests of the people who give and the people who receive, there should be a thorough check-up of all administrators, and heavy punishment meted out to those who betray the givers as well as those who should be receiving.

FARM ACCIDENT TOLL

The Mayo Clinic doctors told the American Medical Association that one-quarter of all persons killed in occupational accidents in 1944 were farmers. The doctors said that death and injury in agriculture is appalling. The reason there for is that the tractor is more deadly than the automobile, and farm machinery is more dangerous than industrial machinery. Falls are the most frequent type of accident on farms and most of them are falls from agricultural machinery. Five out of every hundred falls are fatal.

Another Alberta farm accident caused the death of a tractor operator at Edgerton. The tractor hit a large rock, throwing the man to Molotov is against a bare majority being decisive in U.N. divisions but agrees to two-thirds. In his democratic country he is used to long shot majorities but can afford later on to yield to the bare majority advocates after he has gathered in a few more satellites and stooges.

Among those who recommended Sam Carr for citizenship were three clergymen. They realize they should not have done so because when they proceed now to praise the Lord the congregation is apt to recall that they once praised Sam Carr.

One of them can't remember a thing about it but admits he may have done so if other prominent men were doing the same. The other prominent men probably thought the same. They were all prominent as partisans of Russia.

Solon Low, M.P. declares that modern socialism is a stepping stone to communism and that there is little difference between the latter and fascism. With this most people will agree but one cannot accept his further statement that the Russian revolution had been planned in the bank parlors of New York without concluding that those parlors could more profitably have been used as insane asylums.

In answer to a question asked in the Commons it was disclosed last week that for some years back a daily newspaper has been given time for news broadcasts over the C.B.C. which would have cost any other person or company $42,000 a year. This is the newspaper referred to last week as a staunch supporter of both governments—the one at Moscow and the one at Ottawa. The proprietor has a good deal of influence at Ottawa.

A union that throws a picket line around a municipal building where a court is hearing charges against strikers throws a flood of light upon its ideas touching that weapon. It defies governments and would intimidate courts in the same way as it defies management and intimidates workers.

U.A.W. leaders are becoming genuinely alarmed over the falling off in production. Their men went on strike last year, and this year the steel strike is on and automobile workers are liable to lose, through this and the coal strike, as much as they won.

Reuther, the new A.W.W. leader, is really perturbed and is seeking a conference with auto-managements to increase production. He goes so far as to agree not to break any wage contracts for a while in his zeal for increased production.

It is plain for all to see that if, through lack of coal and steel, automobiles can not be made, the prospects for autoworkers cannot be bettered by breaking wage contracts, and going on strike. Work thrusts itself forward embarrassingly as a condition precedent to a strike.

When Senator Haig reproached the government for taking over the steel plants unless it was prepared to make the men work. Senator Bench retorted "And put ten thousand men in jail?" He is a lawyer, a citizen and a Senator and in any case must be interested in law enforcement, yet he discloses without displeasure that the government was afraid to make the effort. Taking over the plant was a bluff which would work only if the workers would. Instead of using tear gas on the rebels the government retreated behind the smokescreen of a parliamentary inquiry.

Turner Valley's daily production in the week ended July 29 was 15,982 barrels compared with 15,876 the previous week. 19,598 this time last year. 5000 Mile Trip South In Model B Ford Car

And Not So Much As A Flat Tire on the Journey. The Experience of Helen Bews and Marie Matlock

Another triumph for Henry Ford is chalked up in the experience of Helen Bews of High River and Marie Matlock of Champion, two teachers on the Carmangay school staff. They have just returned from a round trip of almost 5000 miles, travelling in a Model B Ford. They didn't have so much as a flat tire on their journey to Los Angeles and back, and the only trouble they had was through Crows Nest Pass when their tail light quit them under the ordeal of the road. Wherever they went people marvelled at the stamina of their car, and down in Los Angeles they felt definitely conspicuous. But the Model B got them there and got them home without a flutter.

Their trip covered a month of journeying and visiting, giving the prairie girls a great variety of novel and interesting experiences.

From Portland they took a trip to Crater Lake, at the top of a volcanic mountain. The lake itself is said to be 2000 feet deep, and the rim of the crater is about 2000 feet above the lake.

Continuing south they were fascinated by the Salinas orchard country, an imposing sight to anyone unfamiliar with large scale fruit growing. Cherries, plums, apricots and peaches were weighting the trees, the boughs propped up to sustain the masses of fruit. Here too were huge vegetable farms, with lettuce and such stuff in every stage of development, and cropping in progress all season long. All this land is irrigated.

They stopped at Sacramento to visit the Capitol buildings and then crossed to Oakland over the great toll bridge where the bridge crosses the bay and goes through a tunnel on an island before continuing over the water. From the bridge they could see Alcatraz and Treasure Island in the distance.

Continuing down the west coast they visited Gerald Matlock, a brother of Marie's, in Los Angeles where he is studying plastics. Under his guidance they saw the Hollywood bowl and the famous broad casting and moving picture studios. They included in their sight-seeing Grouper's Chinese theatre where autographs, hand prints and footprints of all the stars were perpetuated in the cement—even to the mouth print of Joe E. Brown.

The San Fernando valley and mission were a part of their tour. The mission established in 1797 has had much of the original building preserved.

Coming back they visited many of the "name" beaches along the ocean and motored through the redwoods. They were interested in the "trees of mystery," all natural growth in curious form within a small area. One "family tree" had 12 trunks stemming from one root. There were elephant and octopus trees exactly like the originals, and a "chapel in the tree" had concealed music playing "Trees." There was a concealed speaker at each point of interest to give explanation of what to look for.

Returning through Oregon they held to the ocean route which was wonderful from a scenic standpoint for travellers from inland. At Portland they visited "The Grotto," a magnificent Catholic shrine to "Our Sorrowful Mother." It was an impressive spot, abounding in trees, flowers and birds, and with seating capacity for hundreds in front of the Grotto. An elec-

Recognizes Arthritis

"Will aid research cancer, arthritis," is the heading of a news-item covering Hon. Brooke Claxton's announcement in the House of Commons, on May 31st, that the federal government plans to provide grants for those who wish to do research work on cancer and arthritis.

Health Minister Claxton's statement marks the first major step of the Canadian government towards curbing the ravages of Canada's No. 1 cripple, arthritis, and the vigorous campaigning by local crusaders is bearing fruits of their toils.

Mr. Claxton told the house that his remarks with respect to cancer research could be applied as well to arthritis, a disease from which more than 600,000 Canadians suffered and for which there apparently was no known permanent cure.

Rev. E. G. Hansell (S.C. Macleod), asked that the government assist persons suffering from incurable diseases and unable to support themselves.

Ten-Cent Increase In Wheat Payment

On July 30 the government announced an initial price of $1.35 for wheat, which is a ten cent boost made retroactive to August 1, 1945. Trade Minister McKinnon said this new initial price will remain until July 31, 1950.

The 1945-1946 deliveries, based on the former rate of $1.25 will be brought up to the $1.35 level by payments to producers of a flat 10 cents a bushel on all grades. This payment is expected to total 24 million dollars.

The participation payment on the 1944 crop will be upward of 16 cents a bushel.

The pegged export price of $1.55 a bushel has been removed and efforts will be made on sales to non-contract countries to sell at prices corresponding roughly with those of U.S., which are over $2 a bushel.

The Canadian Wheat Board will accept all the wheat western producers wish to deliver from the coming harvest.

The Wheat Board will continue as the sole marketing agency for Canadian wheat.

The domestic wheat price of $1.25 will be continued, with the government continuing its payment of a drawback to millers to cover the difference between 77 3/8 cents and $1.25 on wheat used in Canada for human consumption.

Mr. McKinnon also spoke of a plan to bulk all surpluses from the sale of wheat for the crop years from 1945 to 1949 in a five-year pool, and defer participation payments until 1950 instead of making them yearly as at present. After the 10 cent payment has been made on the 1945 crop to bring its initial price up to the new rate the remaining surplus from the crop will be placed in the pool with succeeding crops from 1946 to 1949. The Board will issue participation certificates as usual, but they will not be paid till after July 31, 1950.

A Concession
The boost of ten cents will be welcomed over the west. Farm groups had been asking for $1.55 as basic price on export wheat, and also on wheat used in Canada. They have viewed with some protest the U.S. price of over $2.00 a bushel as a comparison. But the announcement that the removal of the $1.55 peg on export sales to all countries but Britain has removed one source of irritation.

Much Grain In South Alberta

Grain in storage in elevators and farmers' granaries amounts to 3,356,000 bushels for the Lethbridge railway division, which takes in the whole of Southern Alberta and a section of southwestern Saskatchewan. This is revealed in the C.P.R. grain crop report for June. Elevators hold 1,667,000 bushels of wheat, with farmers retaining 2,189,000 bushels on their own farms.

Since August 1, 1945, 28,837,000 bushels of wheat have been shipped from the division.

Other grains still in the division aggregate 299,000 bushels, and 408,000 bushels have been already shipped. Around 209,000 bushels of other grains are stored in elevators, with farmers holding another 170,000 bushels.

There is still some feeling that trade relations with Britain are being subverted at the expense of the Canadian farmer. The extension of the new price for a five-year period brings a measure of stability. And the lifting of the wheat quota is approved.

Under the agreement the British government is buying Canadian wheat at 50 cents below market price.

Prime Minister MacKenzie King is attending the Peace conference at Paris. He says Canada is not interested in reparations but does look to Europe for future trade.

Younger, D.S.O., O.B.E., M.C., and Mrs. Younger, of Edmonton. August 24th is the date chosen for the wedding, which will take place in the Calgary Pro-Cathedral at 6:30 p.m., with Mr. W. G. Greenfield officiating.

The postponed meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion was held in the Legion hall on Tuesday, July 30th, with a fair attendance of members. The brief business session included a report on the refreshment booth operated by the Auxiliary at the Lions rodeo and showed a substantial profit realized. It was decided not to hold a meeting in August due to the anticipated early harvest and consequent busy season for many of the members. The sum of $50.00 was voted to the Sanatorium fund to provide comforts for veterans confined to that institution. The meeting adjourned with the singing of God Save the King.

That Vulcan husbands are an exceptionally tolerant lot has been well demonstrated in the hastily prepared lunches that many of them have good-naturedly partaken of, with grins and remarks under their breath that sounded like "bathing beauties — nymphs" and some not so complimentary, during the past week. Why? Well, if Jack Denbigh, caretaker at the newly opened swimming pool "told all" he could say that the greatest assortment of feminine figures that ever graced (?) a pool, have been spending an hour each morning determinedly trying to learn to swim. Who ever said that only the young dare to venture? Certainly the majority of those who keenly enjoy their morning dip could not be classified as in the first flush of youth. They have simply lived all their lives where there were no facilities for learning to swim and are so pleased to have the grand, modern pool handy that they are to enjoy it. So, ladies, how about joining "The Girls" at 9:30 any or all mornings from Monday to Friday? Jack or a couple of the experienced lady swimmers are more than kind in giving instruction.
